PEOPLE CHEMISTRY MODULE STAYING MOTIVATED

- When business, social, or family activities unfold in harmony success naturally follows. The y \ddot{u} Mlv \ddot{u} Staying Motivated module supports positive engagement by revealing how individuals are uniquely motivated.
- y \ddot{u} Mlv \ddot{u} examines five intrinsic ways each individual stays uniquely motivated and provides comparisons of how this differs from, complements, and challenges the collaborative group.
- This motivation source is directly related to how an individual is naturally “wired” rather than how one responds to extrinsic incentives, threats, or inspirational speech.
- y \ddot{u} Mlv \ddot{u} helps teams create collaborative harmony by finding common ground for the unique – yet sometimes conflicting – motivators each person naturally possesses.

“Human engagement and team success often flow or fail based on compatibility, not capability.”

y \ddot{u} Mlv \ddot{u} Guides Teams on How to Find Collective Motivation for Success

When we are aware of these differences, we can help everyone around us stay motivated, even when they are different from others.

y \ddot{u} Mlv \ddot{u} Staying Motivated provides this awareness. With y \ddot{u} Mlv \ddot{u} , you see how each team member can draw on the intrinsic motivators that help them contribute to the group at an optimal level.

For example, y \ddot{u} Mlv \ddot{u} Insights show when an individual or overall group needs to enjoy what they are doing to stay highly engaged and work to their potential. motivators.
